MONFORT STUDENTS PICK PROFESSORS OF THE YEAR

GREELEY, Colo.(2008-05-01 00:00:00.0)

Each year students at the University of Northern Colorado's Monfort College of Business pick their favorite professors and honor them at the college's annual student-sponsored picnic. The ceremony marks the end of the academic year and for many graduating seniors a last opportunity to thank professors who have prepared them for life in the business world.

Professors of the year are voted on by the students, covering each of the college's program areas, as well as an overall professor of the year. This year's professors of the year are the following:

Accounting – Lorie Milam

Computer Information Systems – Chris Vegter

Finance – Christine McClatchey

General Business – Keiko Krahnke

Management – Milan Larson

Marketing – James Reardon

Overall – Garth Allen

Professors count this as an important honor from students who consistently give the college high marks for the quality of its undergraduate business program. According to results of annual survey administered by the college, 96 percent of student respondents said the college emphasizes high quality teaching; 96 percent said they would recommend the college to friends or family members.

About the Monfort College of Business

The Kenneth W. Monfort College of Business at the University of Northern Colorado focuses exclusively on excellence in undergraduate business education. This unique focus has led to national and international recognition for the College including becoming the first and only business program to receive the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award from the Office of the President of the United States, and the only undergraduate-only program worldwide to be accredited by AACSB International in both business and accounting. Over five successive years Monfort's graduating seniors have scored in the top 5 to 10 percent on nationwide standardized exit exams. Students earn a degree in Business Administration with emphasis options in accounting, computer information systems, finance, general business, management, or marketing.
